Tell me and I forget. Teach me and I remember. Involve me and I learn.

By Benjamin Franklin

At CCA, we strongly follow the above dictum and gamut of opportunities are given to students for their multifaceted growth and to improve learning.

Today Gen-Alpha is highly aware of social and environmental issues, often supporting causes like climate change, social justice and mental health. They can deliberate, raise their opinions & generate solutions. But, with access to vast information available online it is essential to give them a right platform to voice their opinion. CCAMUN is going to offer them the same and learners are welcome with open arms into the folds of CCA family for yet another two days of deliberations, discussions, contemplations, evaluation and considerations.

Let's come together once again to be the part of this unique opportunity and engage in diplomatic discussions to understand global issues.

Also, grabbing the chance to enhance public speaking and oratory skills. Your participation would greatly contribute to the success of the conference. I promise you, the event is going to be an intellectually enriching experience.

Dear Students,

Dr. Dheeru Thakral
Vice Principal

The best way to solve any problem is by considering different perspectives. This is especially important when dealing with global affairs that affect people worldwide. Different individuals can have diverse viewpoints on the same situation, and considering these perspectives can help us find the most viable solutions to any global issue.

Model United Nations, organized by CCA School, does a commendable job of providing students with this opportunity, which may not be available to them otherwise. The school ensures that students receive an enriching experience that prepares them for the complexities of global issues and leadership roles in the future. We especially look forward to seeing students from different schools actively participating every year. It makes us proud and reassures us that these young individuals, who will be future policymakers, are on the right path to lead this country to great success.

Dear Students,

MUN Conferences help in facilitating, learning, sharing and inspiring people. They also give delegates the ability to spark new ideas, bring together people with common interests and discuss issues.

On behalf Of CCA School it is my utmost pleasure to invite delegates to yet another conference at CCA SCHOOL, GURUGRAM. CCA MUN will provide knowledge of the world we live in develop skills like public speaking, presentation, persuasion, situation analysis, research and critical thinking.

So, let's bring a change and explore new things to learn from different experiences.
